Note:

As the clause A stated:

ALL CERTIFICATES OF CONFORMANCE SHALL INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING

There must be a clear link(s) (ex: Heat #, Lot number), that ties the entire certification package together. This includes process certifications performed by sub-tier suppliers.

There shall be NO breaks in the Chain of Custody ownership and every Sale throughout the supply chain process shall include the appropriate Certification of Conformity.

All Certificates of Conformance shall include the following:

- Purchase Order Number
- Part Number (as ordered on BOEING DISTRIBUTION purchase order). Referenced part numbers are not acceptable.
- Revision Level as noted on the Boeing Distribution purchase order.
If no revision is noted on Purchase order, provide and certify to the latest blue print revision at time of Purchase Order placement.
(see Clause "R" for Honeywell specific part number requirements)
- Quantity (per each mfg lot in shipment. (See bullet 3 in first CofC section above)
- Manufacturer's name and part number (if applicable).
- Lot number: lot number may be defined by any format that provides full trace to all elements of the manufactured lot – including special processes. Examples (but not limited to) could be date codes, work order numbers & heat numbers, as long as the format fulfills the requirement of full traceability for all elements of the manufactured lot.
- Serial number (if applicable) Serial bar codes must have whole serial number as listed in cert.
- A statement that the parts/materials conform to all applicable drawing and specification requirements
-  If the part is considered ITAR or EAR based upon its "original design intent", then ITAR category or ECCN is required for "Verification of Export Compliance".
 - If the part is considered dual use, then use the Commercial classification
- Shelf-life requirements including cure date (if applicable). This requirement may be met on DCC of Authorized Distributors.
- Distributors must also include a signed Certification of Conformance (DCC).
- Distributor shall certify to part number ordered on Purchase Order
- Distributors shall maintain clear traceability to the original manufacturer for each lot in a shipment.
- Statement of Origin (i.e. Made in the USA)
- Electrical Authorized Distributors must include manufacturer C of C if part is a non-assembled part number.
- Electrical Authorized Distributors must include manufacturer component authority letter for assembled part numbers.

CRITICAL NOTE: If the shipment contains multiple manufactured lots, each lot shall be segregated and identified to maintain traceability in the shipment. Failure will result in a rejection.

All required documentation shall be completely legible, and reproducible. Boeing Distribution Services Inc will review documentation for compliance to requirements, legibility, and reproducibility by electronic scanning and/or copying.

- At Boeing Distribution Services Inc' discretion, we reserve the right to invoke source inspection.
